Academic Calendar	Academic year: April to March 1st semester/Spring (term of classes): April 1st to the late July 2nd semester/Fall (term of classes): Mid-September to the Late January <<Important>> For exchange students who are considering first semester study only, second semester only, or second and first semesters, please read the following notice: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Exchange students who are enrolled for first semester only, second semester only, or second and first semesters can’t take full-year courses. They can take only semester courses. 2. Especially the Graduate Schools of Law and Letters offer many full-year courses and few semester courses. There is a possibility that exchange students who are enrolled for only the first semester, only the second semester, or second and first semesters in these graduate schools may not

	register for these courses and cannot get credits. 3. Though they are not able to register for full-year courses, they may be allowed to simply audit the full-year courses, if your academic adviser permits.
Student Status at Chuo	Undergraduate program: Senkasei  Students can apply to enroll in any academic courses in the regular curriculum offered by the Faculty in which they are registered. Academic courses in other Faculties may be taken upon approval of the Faculties concerned and according to the regulations of those Faculties. Graduate program: Senkasei or Kenkyusei Senkasei can apply to any academic courses in the regular curriculum offered by the Graduate School in which they are registered. Caution: Students may not be able to obtain as many credits as the student plans if the student does not have enough Japanese language proficiency (preferably JLPT N1 level) to take academic courses taught in Japanese. Note: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) We do not offer exchange program Senkasei-status at the doctorate level. If you are doctoral student you must select Kenkyusei. 2) The Graduate schools of Economics, Commerce, Letters and Policy Studies offer very few academic courses taught in English. 3) If we cannot find a suitable academic advisor based on a student's study plan and language proficiency, we will not be able to accept that student in our exchange program. Senkasei: Full time non-degree student Credits and grades will be granted if students satisfactorily fulfill course requirements.  Kenkyusei (Non-degree research student) A Kenkyusei conducts specific research under the supervision of an academic adviser. Japanese Language Courses (Free of charge for Exchange Students, with grade and credit)	8 levels from Beginner to JLPT N1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◆ Beginner to Intermediate: 5 levels, intensive course ◆ Intermediate (JLPT N3) to Advanced (JLPT N1): 3 levels  Japanese language courses are Undergraduate level courses. Though the courses are open to Graduate students, they cannot obtain credits for Japanese language courses. * Students will find out their courses/levels only after a placement test taken upon arrival at Chuo University. * If a student has no language proficiency and wishes to study Japanese, they will need to study Hiragana and Katakana (reading AND writing) before arriving in Japan. Beginner classes are limited and Hiragana and Katakana are required to pass the placement test. * The Intensive Beginner Course is a set of 6 classes, and students must take all 6 classes each week. These classes may cause clashes with other academic courses that students need to take. Therefore, if students have any essential academic courses to take at Chuo, they are strongly recommended to consult with the International Center of Chuo at the earliest opportunity before deciding to apply for the Chuo exchange program. * Japanese language courses are primarily offered on the Tama Campus, and the intensive courses are only offered at Tama. * Two Japanese language classes are offered on the Korakuen Campus for Science and Engineering major students. The course level is approximate JLPT N3 level.

Academic Courses	To fulfill visa requirements, exchange students must attend 6 classes or more, or conduct research more than 10 hours per week. a. Courses in Japanese: Generally, academic courses are taught in Japanese. English texts are used in many courses. Every effort will be made by course teachers to help students integrate into classes. b. Courses in English: Chuo University offers some courses taught in English, such as Japanese Law, etc. Please refer to the website below for the course list and syllabi. http://global.chuo-u.ac.jp/english/admissions/exchange/semester-or-full-year/ * If students focus on studying Japanese language at Chuo, we highly recommend they take at least one or two academic courses from the regular curriculum in parallel with the above-mentioned Japanese language courses and Japanese studies. * This will give students more opportunities to study in a regular classroom with degree-seeking international students as well as Japanese students. * Faculty of Science and Engineering has restricted course selections so please consider this when you select the Science and Engineering Faculty.
Course Registration	Basically, students do NOT need on line registration before arrival. However, your application form study plan is very important: it will be considered when the Faculty/Graduate School decides your acceptance. Only Japanese Law courses taught in English and offered by the Faculty/Graduate school of Law requires to apply through the online about a month before class starts. The International Center will provide necessary information.
Method of Assessment	ALL students are evaluated on the same basis and are expected to complete ALL course work and examinations. Methods of assessment differ among faculty members, but written exams at the end of the first and/or second semesters are common as are other methods, such as essays, class participation, attendance, and or others as appropriate.
Transcript Issuance	2 Original academic transcripts will be issued after each semester and sent to the student's home university. (Transcript is not available for research students) Date of Issue: *First (Spring) semester: Late September *Second (Autumn) semester: Early March

Even when Chuo does not give credits, home institutions may grant credits for courses. Arrangements for credit transfer must be negotiated by the student with the home institution.
