Exchange Programs (one year or one semester)

Chuo University Exchange Programs offer an opportunity for international students to take courses or conduct research for one year or one semester at Chuo. This can include comprehensive Japanese language study as an integral part of the degree program at students' home institutions. Upon completion of the Exchange Program, exchange students can transfer credits and/or academic achievements gained at Chuo to their home institutions. For more information, please visit our website:

Global FLP Program

The Global Faculty Linkage Program fosters global professionals, providing expertise and skills through practical, hands-on learning, and is a university-wide education program in which all subjects are taught in foreign languages.

The Chuo Law School Summer Program

Chuo Law School (CLS) hosts a summer program titled "Introduction to Japanese Law in English". This one-week program will focus on the basic structure of Japan's legal system and legal culture, and some specific topics of Japanese law. All lectures are provided in English by professors at CLS and are open to law students from around the world. The program also includes optional study visits to law firms, courts, and museums. No academic credit is offered for this program; however, those who complete the course will be eligible to receive a certificate of participation.

International Student Support

Scholarships for Degree Programs

Students at Chuo have opportunities to apply for various off-campus scholarships, including those of both public and private scholarship foundations, as well as Chuo's own distinctive scholarships and tuition reduction programs. Scholarships and tuition reductions for international students are provided for students with "College Student" status of residence.

* Applications for scholarships and tuition reductions can be submitted after entrance to the University.

* Scholarships and tuition reductions are subject to change.

International Residences

The International Residence Chuo (IRC) opened on the Tama Campus in April 2020. The residence has 50 units containing six private rooms, 300 rooms in total, and students from various backgrounds can share community life. The concept of the IRC is to facilitate interculturality among students through daily life living together. Based on this concept, various events, orientations, and meetings are held in the IRC. In addition, Chuo has a second residence, co-managed with a housing company, the Seiseki Sakuragaoka International Residence in Tama-city opened in April 2012 with 94 private apartments containing kitchens and bathrooms.

G² (G-Square)

G² (G-Square), Chuo's Global Lounge on the Tama Campus, is a unique space where international and Japanese students can mingle and socialize, and provides support for students eager to become globally aware. G² offers various types of information on study abroad, as well as opportunities to learn about and share different cultures. There is a large screen that displays nine satellite channels with a variety of programs in Japanese, English, Chinese, Korean and French, and students can select and watch programs using head-sets that they can borrow from the G² reception. G² is an ideal on-campus space for international exchange where students regularly hold social events, cross-cultural seminars, language exchanges, and foreign language discussion groups.
